Kurt Simon pushes 2011 Campaign over the top!

At the annual meeting, we announced that the 2011 Campaign had closed at $579,000 , a wonderful accomplishment but still a bit shy of our $600,000 goal.

When Kurt Simon went home from the meeting, he remembered seeing how close we had gotten to reaching our goal.

Knowing how hard the campaign team has worked, and the good that the Federation does for our community, Kurt decided to make up the difference to help us make our goal.

Thanks, Kurt, for your generosity and confidence in the work we do to help Jews here at home and around the world.

Campaign leaders announce early start for 2012

FASTEN YOUR SEAT-BELTS---IT'S GONNA BE A FAST AND FURIOUS RIDE!!

Be prepared! The 2012 Annual Campaign will be starting early this year, and racing to the finish line in the fastest campaign we've seen since the likes of the famous "Feldbaum campaign" of the late 1990's. We will be kicking off on September 13, 2011, and aim to have contacted everyone in our Jewish community by January 31, 2012.

The 2012 Campaign will be ably led by Linda Mintz, who has kindly agreed to take on another year as Women's Philanthropy Chair, and Ron Cohen, who we are thrilled to announce, is returning from a brief 37 year hiatus to reprise his role as Men's Campaign Chair. They both need your help to make this goal a reality!

Linda Mintz

Ron Cohen

Linda and Ron's main goal for the 2012 Annual Campaign (in addition to topping our 2011 total of course) is to help our community develop new leadership who will foster the growth of our community's resources for generations to come. So, if you've never done campaign before, or if you haven't done it in a long time, please give it a try. You can contact Ron or Linda or the Federation at 574-233-1164 to find out how.

Thanks so much, Ron and Linda, for leading us into the future!

2012 Annual Campaign Kickoff

Tuesday evening, September 13, 2011

Please join us to hear Sophie Ambrose tell her fascinating story of how the receipt of Federation-supported services changed her life and why giving to programs like these is so important to the of our future Jewish community.

Sophie was born and raised in the Ozark Mountains of Arkansas hardly knowing she was Jewish, much less knowing what being Jewish meant… until she fell upon birthright Israel...and it changed her life...

Irwin Cotler to speak on Iran at ND Law School

Just what makes the current Iranian regime so dangerous? Irwin Cotler, an outspoken critic of the Iranian regime, will address this issue in his talk entitled: Ahmadinejad's Iran: A Threat to Peace, Human Rights, and International Law. His presentation at the Notre Dame Law School will be held on Wednesday, September 7 at 5:30 PM and is open to the public.

Professor Cotler, Canada's former Minister of Justice and now a Canadian Member of Parliament, is one of the world's leading human rights activists. He received his undergraduate and law degrees at McGill University in Montreal, where he later became a professor of law. He served as director of McGill's Human Rights program from 1973 until his election into the Canadian Parliament in 1999. Cotler co-chaired the Parliamentary Human Rights Group, and also founded Parliamentarians for Global Action and the Save Darfur Parliamentary Coalition. As Minister of Justice and Attorney General of Canada, he made international justice a priority, initiating the first indictment under the Canadian War Crimes and Crimes Against Humanity Act for incitement to genocide in Rwanda. He is chair and co-founder of the Inter-Parliamentary Coalition to Combat Anti-semitism which launched an international Responsibility to Prevent Coalition of leading jurists, survivors and genocide scholars and former government leaders, which has endorsed an international report seeking to hold Ahmadinejad's Iran to account for its violations of international law, including its state-sanctioned incitement to genocide.

Cotler's presentation is being co-sponsored by Notre Dame Law School's Center for Civil and Human Rights, the Jewish Federation of St. Joseph Valley, Hebrew Orthodox Congregation, Midwest Torah Center, Sinai Synagogue, Temple Beth-El's Kurt and Tessye Simon Foundation, and Temple B'nai Shalom of Benton Harbor.

Kugel and salsa recipes use fresh corn

by Deena Abraham

Many of us are probably familiar with the catchy lyrics used to advertise Indiana Beach (on beautiful lake Schaffer in Monticello) and it's amusement part. The words of "Back Home Again in Indiana" are changed to "there's more than corn in Indiana." This seems to imply that in Indiana there is more corn than anything else. I understood this in a very real way last summer when I drove to Marshall, Indiana, in the south western part of the state. Driving on some rather small roads was necessary. It was August and the corn was quite high - we are well past knee level by then. Driving on narrow roads with no shoulder between tall stalks of corn is a bit unsettling. The only other thing to see is the sky if you look straight up. For miles. And more miles. So, I then understood on a new and deeper level why people associate corn with our Hoosier state.

I usually get fresh corn once a year. That's all. We like it, but don't eat it very often. My favorite way to prepare it is to pull back the thick husks without removing them, remove the silky threads, season, cover with husks, and bake or grill. You can freeze fresh corn that has been removed from the cob and use it throughout the year in place of store-bought corn.

There is a very easy corn kugel recipe that uses a can of creamed corn. But, I was pretty intrigued when I came across this recipe that uses fresh corn. Some of the corn in this recipe is pureed, which makes it a very creamy dish. This is not a quick and easy recipe like the recipe that uses canned corn, but it is really good.

CORN KUGEL

5 ears of corn
1/2 an onion, diced
1 Tbsp. oil
salt, to taste
pepper, to taste
1 c. vegetable broth or water
4 eggs, beaten
1/2 tsp. dill
2 Tbsp. seasoned bread crumbs

Remove the corn from the cob. There should be about 3 1/2 cups of corn. Set aside. Sauté the onion in oil over medium heat for 7-8 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. While the onion is sautéing, puree two cups of the corn with half of the broth. Pulse in the remaining broth and season with a bit of salt and pepper. In a mixing bowl, combine the corn puree, sautéed onions, remaining corn, eggs, and dill. Pour the mixture into a greased 8x11" pan and sprinkle the bread crumbs on top. Put this pan into a larger pan. Fill the larger pan with hot water to go halfway up the sides of the kugel's pan. Bake at 325° for one hour and ten minutes.

Our next recipe comes from Ruthie Isaacs-Holzer. This is a really nice salsa to make during the summer, but it can certainly be made any time of year. You can prepare this recipe several hours in advance, but don't add the avocado until closer to the serving time.

AVOCADO, TOMATO, AND CORN SALSA

1/4 c. lime juice
2 Tbsp. olive oil
1 tbsp. sugar
1 ripe avocado
1 lg. ripe tomato
1 c. corn
1/4 c. chopped onion
1/4 c. cilantro

Mix lime juice, oil, and sugar to make dressing. Peel avocado, remove pit, and dice into small pieces. Dice the tomato. Put the avocado, tomato, corn, onion, and cilantro in a serving bowl. Add the dressing and toss gently to combine.

If you have any recipes to share, please send them my way. You can submit recipes via e-mail to dsabraham@ameritech.net. I can take your recipes over the phone at 287-8872. Or, you can mail recipes to me at 2926 Erskine Blvd., South Bend, 46614.
