A Message from the President...

The tragedy in Connecticut last Friday has refocused JCC staff and Federation leadership on the importance of security at the JCC and its on-site schools. As a campus, we are commitment to the security of all our members, students and guests and take the balance between safety/security and facility access as one of our key responsibilities. Over the past few days, existing security procedures and staff training were reviewed and in collaboration with both Silver Academy and the ECD, the JCC's facilities team have identified and will implement several changes to the overall security program. We will continue assessing our security and invest in changes where necessary and feasible.

Campus leadership and staff will continue to be vigilant keeping the safety of all our members, guests and students as a primary concern and ask that you also make staff aware of any concerns or observed issues as identified. Safety and security is everyone’s responsibility, please support the Federation, the JCC, Silver Academy, the Brenner Early Childhood Development Center and all of the other programs using the JCC throughout the week by doing your part - "Speak Up" when in doubt.

Middle School Basketball Plays for a Reason

The Harrisburg JCC and the Harrisburg Academy recently teamed up to make their middle school basketball games count for more than just their team records. On December 5th, the two teams held their annual Pink Out Game where fans and players wore pink in order to help raise money to fight cancer. The games were held at the JCC in front of a standing-room-only crowd. The Harrisburg JCC girls’ and boys’ teams all wore pink-out shirts for warm-ups that the teams decorated after a recent practice.

The Harrisburg JCC girls won 33-11. The game started out close, with the girls having a 9-8 lead at the end of the first quarter. In the second quarter, the girls came out more confident and were able to capitalize on their ability to force turnovers with their aggressive defense. They held the Academy scoreless in the second quarter and finished the half with a score of 22-8. The team was led by Jenna Shoop who finished the day with 8 points.

In the second half of the afternoon double header, the JCC boys were edged out by the Harrisburg Academy squad by a close score of 24-23. The game was back and forth with numerous lead changes occurring. The boys were led by scoring efforts from Kwame McCray who had 8 points and Isaiah Owens who completed his day with 7 points.

However, the real winner of the day was the fight against cancer. "The games raised awareness and allowed us to hopefully make a small difference. The kids were the reason we held the pink out, they wanted to play for a cause," stated coach and SFR Director Terri Travers. The event raised $130, which will be donated.
Strength Training – Important for ALL

By Brenda Hoover

We often think that as long as we are incorporating cardiovascular exercise (biking, walking, running, etc.) we are meeting our physical exercise needs. The reality is, while cardiovascular exercise is important, it is not all encompassing. It does not provide the balance to all muscle groups nor does it meet the resistance training needs for our skeletal muscles.

Once we reach the age of 30, we start to lose lean muscle through the aging process. Muscle dictates our metabolism. The more lean muscle mass we have, the higher our metabolism and the more body fat we use for energy throughout the day. Women, especially, need to incorporate strength (resistance) training as this helps to increase bone density.

There are many ways to incorporate strength training. It doesn’t require large equipment or really any equipment at all. There are many exercises you can do with your own body weight. A stability ball and a few dumbbells can provide as much variety as gym equipment. This is actually better than equipment because you are supporting your own body weight in every exercise.

If you are not familiar with or comfortable with strength training, it is highly recommended that you consult with a certified personal trainer (certified through an accredited organization). A personal trainer can assist in program design, as well as actually training you until you are comfortable working on your own. You can even train with a couple of friends to reduce the cost per session. Many trainers offer small group sessions as well as individual sessions.

Reflect on your current exercise routine and be sure it is balanced. The perfect routine includes cardiovascular, strength and some mode of flexibility training. Get the best results with a comprehensive and safely designed plan.

Absolute Wellness Group offers many programs and services covering the spectrum in fitness. Boot Camp and their new Boot Camp-Basic Training provide challenging work outs utilizing nothing more than body weight and dumbbells. For more information about Boot Camps and the other services provided by Absolute Wellness Group, please visit their website www.absolutewellnessgroup.com.

DON’T KISS THE MESSENGERS

Most of them were represented – the Lil’ Abners, the Superman, the Bye Bye Birdians, the Music Men, the Oklahomans, the Get it for you Wholesalers, and on and on. They came along with the notable athletes, the student leaders and the generally sociable kids, now middle-aged, who had the distinct pleasure of growing up in Harrisburg and mostly attending Susquehanna Township or William Penn from loosely 1965 – 1975. This group, many of whom are now former Harrisburgers, meets each year as “Friends Again – Harrisburg” to re-tell and in many cases, expand upon the legends of their storied high school past. During the rest of the year, this affinity group, now 379 members strong, satiates its need for nostalgia by exchanging pictures and stories on Facebook.

This year’s gathering, held over Thanksgiving weekend, celebrated a new purpose – tzedakah! A portion of each attendee’s registration fee was set aside for a charitable gift among a choice of 3 to be decided upon by the group. The recipient of the first Friends Again donation really was quite obvious for there was one denominator common to many in attendance – the Jewish Community Center, and more specifically its teen drama department.

You see, most of us first got our dramatic feet wet on the JCC stage because it was there that we were assured of a role, whether on stage or off, and where our parents and relatives got to kvell over our achievements. It was there that we may have been first exposed to the concepts of commitment, practice and truly hard work that served us well in life. And it was there that we acquired memories, literally, to last a lifetime.

Credit for the idea of giving back belongs to Friends Again moderator, Bobby Nuccel, the JCC Youth Activities Director from 1972-1976 (and an active JCC teenager immediately prior). As he states, “I’m so happy to be able to give back to a place that had such a positive impact on so many lives.” The votes to support Bobby’s concept, without any hesitation, came from the rest of us in attendance. So, it is with tremendous pride and a strong dose of sentiment that “Friends Again – Harrisburg” presents an $818 contribution to Teen Drama Programming. It is the group’s sincere expectation that the long history of JCC Teen drama productions will be aided by this modest, but very symbolic donation.

The following is a reprint of a community-wide email send on Thursday, December 6, 2012:

As many of our readers know, the Board of Trustees of the Jewish Federation of Greater Harrisburg recently completed an important discussion and vote relative to the JCC’s guiding principles and hours of operation on Shabbat and Jewish holidays.

For several years, the Federation staff and leadership have been carefully examining the JCC’s hours and days of operation and have recently recommended to the Board changes that reflect this study. These recommendations are in response to demands and challenges within our own local Jewish community and trends throughout the North American Jewish Community Center movement. Throughout North America, 86% of Jewish Community Centers associated with the Jewish Community Centers of North America (JCCA) are open on Shabbat.

Federation leadership, including the Strategic Task Force prior to the flood, has focused on the Federation’s mission and vision and Jewish community’s values, as well as market growth, competitive positioning and economics. Leadership’s goal was to make sure that these recommendations helped to further our vision of creating an inclusive Jewish environment, building Jewish community and allowing people to find multiple paths for connectivity within our Jewish community.

Staff and Executive Committee members met with the Rabbis from every congregation, spoke with key community leaders, and surveyed both non-members and current and former members of the Jewish Community Center. They collected feedback from JCCs around the country to educate themselves on the reasoning of the majority of JCCs that are now open on Shabbat.

We soon began to view this as a critical communal question and agreed that Shabbat is among the most important of those shared values that have helped to sustain the Jewish people for thousands of years, and yet one in which the range of acceptable practice and observance varies quite widely. We appreciate that there are many points of view on this topic, often strongly held.

The Board of Trustees was determined to find a balanced approach that respected differences while broadening the availability of the JCC as a welcoming home for those who would like to utilize the JCC on Shabbat.

We struggled with numerous issues; key among them were the following:

If the JCC is to maintain its vital role in Jewish life, do we best do so by remaining closed on Shabbat and Jewish holidays or by opening our doors to the Jewish community? As an organization whose primary mission is the building and caring for a community, how do we best represent the needs of that community without sacrificing so central a tenet in Jewish life?

What programs should the JCC offer, possibly in partnership with the synagogues, that will draw members together on Shabbat but which in no way conflict with those offered by the synagogues? How can Shabbat access to the JCC be additive to the community?

How do we best service a diverse community through a single policy decision?

How can we survive when local fitness centers are opening convenient to home, staying open longer hours and charging less for membership?

We seriously pondered these questions and concluded that in order to survive we must acknowledge Shabbat while providing a central place for Jewish people to gather on that day whether for fitness or simply to be with friends and family sharing the Sabbath.

Effective January 5, 2013, the JCC operating hours and schedule will be expanded to open no earlier than 6:00 a.m. and close no later than 7:00 p.m. on Shabbat (excluding planned community programming, which may require the building to be open later). In addition, the JCC will be open on Jewish holidays, except as outlined below, within the hours of 6:00 a.m. – 7:00 p.m. The JCC will remain open year-round on Fridays, closing no later than 6:00 p.m.

The JCC and Federation will remain closed on the following holidays, regardless of the day of the week on which they fall:

- Erev Rosh Hashanah Early closing at 6:00 p.m.
- Rosh Hashanah – First Day Closed all day
- Erev Yom Kippur (Kol Nidre) Early closing at 6:00 p.m.
- Yom Kippur Closed all day

Erev Passover (First Seder) Early closing at 6:00 p.m.
First Day of Passover Closed all day

Adopted Policies/Procedures:

1) Absolutely no business will be transacted on Saturdays. The main office will remain closed, and staff will not engage in any financial transactions. This means that guest passes, membership cards, swim lessons, etc. must be secured in advance during our Sunday-Friday hours of operation. Regular JCC enrichment classes will not be scheduled or conducted on Saturdays or Jewish holidays so as not to exclude anyone who would like to participate.

2) The kitchen may only be used under the direct supervision of the Mashgiach. In addition, the kitchen will continue to operate under current kashruth policy and will remain locked for the duration of Shabbat.

3) The main lobby will be fashioned in such a way as to promote the concept of Shabbat as a unique day of family, rest and reflection.

4) We will work cooperatively with organizations and individuals to provide Jewish education/Shabbat-oriented programs for those community members who would like to participate.

5) We will establish a standing committee to review potential Shabbat programming.

Our JCC remains in a precarious situation due to last fall’s flooding and the severe financial consequences of its damage. Our community has been galvanized around saving our JCC, and in order to do so, some difficult but long-term focused decisions need to be made. This decision reflects our commitment to our mission and our desire to be an active part of strengthening Jewish and communal life during Shabbat in a respectful and thoughtful manner.

Thank you for allowing us to share this change of policy with you. We appreciate your ongoing support of our community and hope to see you soon at the Jewish Community Center.

Sincerely,
Steven Roth

An International Photography Exhibit
Coming to the Harrisburg Community
February, 2013 at
Holy Spirit Hospital

An opening reception for this exhibit, hosted by the Jewish Federation of Greater Harrisburg, in conjunction with Holy Spirit Hospital, will take place on Sunday, February 10, 2013 ~ 2pm at Holy Spirit Hospital.

Save a Child’s Heart (SACH), together with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Israel, launched an international photo exhibition around the world, as part of Israel's 60th Anniversary Celebrations. The photographs, taken by seven photographers, are mainly of children, in vastly different regions of the world and representing a wide variety of ethnic backgrounds. What links them - and the more than 2,200 other children from over 35 developing countries - is the fact that their lives were saved by the dedicated Israeli doctors, nurses and support staff who form the core of Save A Child’s Heart (SACH).

Improvements Continue: Racquetball Coming Back to the J
New Group Fitness Room to Be Added

The Harrisburg JCC continues to live up to its new slogan Back and Better than Ever as the Sports and Fitness Department proudly announces the newest improvements in the works. By March, the racquetball courts, which have been out of commission since the flood in September 2011, will be renovated and back in use.

One of the courts will be receiving a brand new wood floor and will soon be ready for the playing to begin. “We are excited to get our racquetball players back in the building and playing here at the JCC,” stated Terri Travers, SFR Director. In addition to holding racquetball, this court will provide an additional space to be utilized by the youngest children as a place to get exercise when the gym is in use. The room has also been a spot used in the past for gaga tournaments and wallyball play, and there are high hopes it will continue to house these special events.

The work being done on court two is far more extensive and has already begun. This court is being converted into a group fitness studio. The ventilation is being fixed to accommodate a class of individuals exercising, and the floor will be made to handle high-impact classes. In addition mirrors, a sound system and new lighting are being added. Travers continued, “We are thrilled at the opportunities this room will present for the JCC. We have plans of new classes and how to expand current offerings. Overall the improvements allow us to have a home for fitness classes and better serve our members.”
Dr. Lieber will speak at the Senior Adult Club’s Thursday, January 10, 2013 luncheon. Her topic will be “One Hundred Blessings a Day – Why Jewish Spirituality Begins with Gratitude.”

Dr. Lieber will explore why an attitude of gratitude is a key element of Jewish prayer. She’ll also talk about how to cultivate a positive mindset when we are faced with life’s inevitable challenges. Please make you reservations early. Call Cheryl at 236-9555 Ext. 3115.

A Chanukah Letter to Students -- and the Rest of Us
By Rabbi Akiva Males

Each year at this time, Ricki Gold leads Kesher Israel Congregation’s effort in sending out Chanukah care packages to our college students. This is a beautiful project that our Shul is proud to carry out. Over the years, many students have told me how much these care packages have meant to them. I am always happy to write a short holiday letter to be included in the package.

After writing my letter for this year’s Chanukah package, it struck me that while my letter was written for today’s college students, the message below is one that is relevant to all of us as American Jews -- regardless of age.

Wishing you and your family a wonderful Chanukah,
Rabbi Akiva Males

Chanukah 5773 / December 2012
Dear KI students,

I hope you’re well. With Chanukah upon us, I’ve been thinking about the many different ways I’ve celebrated Chanukah over the years. This morning I remembered how about fifteen years ago, some friends and I went driving around one Chanukah night in what we thought was a very non-Jewish neighborhood deep in Long Island, NY.

What were we doing? A Jewish outreach organization had told us Chanukah was a once a year opportunity for discovering which homes were in fact Jewish. While the homes in that neighborhood may have looked alike on other nights, during Chanukah many of the homes identified themselves as Jewish by placing a Menorah in the front window.

Accordingly, my friends and I had volunteered to drive around that neighborhood and leave Jewish informational materials at homes -- which if not for Chanukah -- we would never have known were Jewish.

Chanukah has a way of bringing out the best in us as Jews. During Chanukah, we seem to realize there are good reason to be proud of our heritage and traditions. I have my own theories why this is so. Have you ever thought about this? Would you agree? I’d love to hear from you.

Layala and I wish you continued success at school. Have a wonderful Chanukah!

Sincerely,
Rabbi Akiva Males

A Chanukah Celebration of Generations!

On Tuesday, December 11 the Pre-K students from The Brenner Family Early Learning Center and The Silver Academy Seventh Grade students joined the JCC Seniors for a Chanukah Celebration. They created delicious Menorahs out of chocolates and heard the Pre-K sing beautiful Chanukah songs. The Pre-K class then joined The Silver Academy’s Kindergarten class for a fantastic lunch. They had a wonderful time celebrating the holiday together!
Odin Rathnam, past Concertmaster of the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra, presents program to the Senior Adult Club

On Tuesday, January 22, 2013 Odin Rathnam, past Concertmaster of the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra, will lecture and play selections for the Senior Adult Club after lunch program.

Since his critically acclaimed Lincoln Center debut in 1993, the American violinist has established himself as one of the most passionate and versatile artists of his generation. He has received unanimous praise from critics and audiences for his “captivating temperament,” “brilliant technique” and “recalling the legendary violinists of the past.” A veteran performer at many major European and American festivals including the Algarve International Music Festival in Portugal, Denmark’s Tivoli and Vendsyssel Festivals, Deia International Festival in Mallorca, Aspen and Caramoor, he has also appeared in recital on the Market Square Concerts series, Lincoln Center’s Alice Tully Hall and Carnegie Recital Hall, where Rathnam first appeared at the age of 15. As a soloist, he has performed with the Baltimore Chamber Orchestra, the New Amsterdam Symphony, the Columbian National Symphony, the Camden and Hayes Orchestras in England, the York Symphony, the Hershey Symphony, the Lancaster Symphony, the Central Pennsylvania Symphony and the Harrisburg Symphony, enjoying collaborations with conductors including Stuart Malina, Richard Westerfield, Stephen Gunzenhauser, Anne Harrigan and many others.

For reservations, please call Cheryl at 236-9555 Ext. 3115

WOMEN WEARING A TALLIT?

A Hands-on Exploration of the History, Laws, and Folklore of Tallitot will be presented on Sunday morning, January 6th from 9:30 to 12:30 at the JCC by Women of Chisuk Emuna. The entire community is invited.

Shirley Waxman, accomplished fiber artist and Judaic folklorist, will provide the answers to questions such as: Is a tallit “one size fits all”? What shapes are acceptable? What materials are suitable? Can you make your own tallit? How is the tallit measured and constructed?

Ms. Waxman was awarded First Prize in Wearable Art in the 1995 Potomac Craftsmen (fiber) Guild 50th Anniversary Show. Her work appears in several books, such as The Best of Silk Painting by Diane Tuckman and Jan Janus and The New Work of Our Hands by Mae Rockland Tuplo.

Her philosophy comes from a folklore background - teach others and you will learn; express what is meaningful for people and hopefully they will understand and feel joy from your work.

She will bring some of her amazing work for display and purchase. Women of Chisuk Emuna will hold follow-up sessions during which women may make their own tallit under the able instruction of Susan Leviton and Cory Schneider.

Bring your daughters and mothers to this informative and enjoyable program. Light snacks will be provided. An RSVP is appreciated to Ivy Levine at 717-652-4906 or mikaian@aol.com

Tips for Keeping Seniors Safe This Winter

Marjorie Koch, LSW, C-ASWCM, JFS Senior Services Coordinator

As the mercury in the thermometer drops this season, there are some safety issues to keep in mind, especially for senior citizens. Some of the most common dangers are house fires due to faulty or improper use of heaters, injuries from falling or shoveling, increased risk of heart attack and stroke and increased depression. Many of the potential safety issues of the winter season are preventable with a little bit of planning and self-care.

Here are some tips for avoiding wintertime dangers:

1. Make sure that smoke and carbon monoxide detectors are installed on every level of the home, and have fresh batteries. Have a fire extinguisher in the home and learn how to use it.

2. Make sure that space heaters are at least three feet away from any flammable objects or surfaces. Ensure that all auxiliary heaters (i.e. portable fireplaces/wood stoves, space heaters and kerosene heaters) are in good working condition.

3. Dress warmly when you go outside, including hats, gloves and scarves. We often hear about frostbite and hypothermia, but the cold can also increase risk of stroke or heart attack as your blood vessels constrict to conserve heat.

4. Find someone to shovel for you. Ask a teenager, neighbor or inquire whether your synagogue or church has volunteers to help out when there is a snow or ice storm. Shoveling snow is strenuous work and can increase your chance of stroke and heart attack. Walking on snowy and icy sidewalks and driveways can easily cause falls, which are especially hard on senior citizens.

5. Get some sunlight when the weather is moderate. Fifteen minutes of sun a day helps your body make vitamin D to decrease risk of osteoporosis, heart attack, dementia and other health issues. Sunlight can also help ward off symptoms of depression that is caused by Seasonal Affective Disorder.

With many seniors being isolated due to loss of a spouse/partner and family living out of town, it is especially important this time of year to keep an eye on vulnerable family, friends and neighbors. If you have concerns about yourself or any seniors in the community, contact the senior services department of JFS at 717-233-1681 or call the Dauphin County Area Agency on Aging at 717-780-6130.
SULAM FOR EMERGING LEADERS AT BETH EL TEMPLE

Beth El Temple has been selected to be a launch site for Sulam for Emerging Leaders (SEL), United Synagogue’s new leadership engagement initiative to develop “emerging” leaders in kehillot (congregations) throughout North America. The program provides our kehilla (our congregational community) with a dynamic curriculum to engage and energize participants in meaningful conversations about how communal involvement in a Conservative kehilla can enhance their lives. After a successful pilot last year with 14 kehillot (congregations), United Synagogue is excited to launch Sulam for Emerging Leaders in approximately 19 congregations in North America this year. Sulam for Emerging Leaders (SEL) is United Synagogue’s new leadership engagement initiative to develop “emerging” leaders across the continent. We are honored to have been chosen to participate in the Sulam program this year.

Sulam for Emerging Leaders is led by a rabbi and facilitator team, modeling partnership and collaboration. Each brings his or her unique perspectives, passion and gifts to the table and shares them with the group. The SEL curriculum is designed to be customized and augmented by the facilitators. Rabbi Eric Cytryn and Executive Director Michael Schatz participated in United Synagogue training for this program and are excited about our congregational facilitator Dr. Robyn Chotiner joining our training team. Dr. Chotiner received her Doctorate of Philosophy and Masters in Education from Temple University and holds a Bachelor of Science with a major in Science and a Minor in Spanish from Penn State. Robyn is a School Psychologist with the Central Dauphin School District. Robyn grew up at Beth Sholom Congregation in Elkins Park, Pennsylvania. She is married to Dr. Erik Chotiner. They are parents to Lauryn and Michael who attend the Beth El Temple Religious School.

Over a dozen congregants in the 35 to 45 year old age group have been selected to participate in the Sulam program. Sulam for Emerging Leaders at Beth El Temple began with a participant dinner in November and will continue with sessions through the spring of 2013. We look forward to developing future leaders for our congregation and the Jewish people.
