

S CORPORATIONS NOW ELIGIBLE TO EARN EITC TAX CREDITS

With the recent passing of House Bill 761, The Omnibus Tax Reform Code, S Corporations (S-Corps) are now eligible to earn tax credits through Pennsylvania's Educational Improvement Tax Credit (EITC) program. The EITC program provides opportunities for business to earn tax credits via donations to schools for tuition scholarships.

The Brenner Family Early Learning Center Pre-K Program of the Jewish Federation of Greater Harrisburg is an approved EITC scholarship recipient school.

Applications are now being accepted from S-Corps and should be submitted as soon as possible, in order to be approved for participation in the 2012-13 school year.

If you would like an application or additional information on S Corps, please contact Patti Bromley at 236-9555, x-3209, p.bromley@jewishfedhbg.org or <http://www.newpa.com/find-and-apply-for-funding/funding-and-program-finder/educational-improvement-tax-credit-program-eitc>.

Special Task Force examining JCC's future progresses forwards to its preliminary meeting with the Federation Board of Trustees

The Special Task Force established to remodel the Federation and JCC into a sustainable operation is on schedule to deliver preliminary recommendations at the July 10th Federation Board of Trustees meeting. Among its early successes, the Special Task Force has solidified a Development Committee, re-established key community collaboration, formulated preliminary plans for more robust membership options, and is investigating exciting new programming ideas across the age spectrum.

The Development Committee, tasked with the critical job of reviving the annual campaign tied to the new vision of the JCC, will include: Steve Etter, Dan Schwab, Anat Beck, Alan Weinstein, Julie Halbert, and David Herman. In addition, there is strong support to identify more participants in the Development Committee who are in the important 25-to-50-year-old age group.

Collaboration across the community will be critical to the success of this effort. That is why the President's Council – comprised of presidents of each agency and synagogue – has been reestablished. During an initial meeting with the Special Task Force, the council unanimously agreed to establish a community coordination committee comprised of 2 nominees from each agency and synagogue. The goal of this committee is to facilitate active collaboration and improve information sharing, particularly sharing community events and educational opportunities. It is also the goal to utilize this newfound collaboration to provide monthly updates on the JCC's transformation process.

A preliminary meeting on June 27th was held for the heads of the various committees to discuss progress on both membership and programming. Clearly, membership retention and expansion is key to a successful future. The Special Task Force's membership committee is investigating alternative membership models, including hybrid and/or joint memberships with local organizations and businesses. The preliminary findings will be discussed at the July 10th Board of Trustees meeting. As to programming, each of the four programming subcommittees presented various concepts that would focus on specific aspects of membership: youth, teens/tweens, young adults, and adult/seniors. Among some of the numerous concepts discussed were 'happy hours' for young adults, reestablishment of the teen lounge, "big kids night out," and Dancing with the Stars style program. In addition, focus was placed on recurring programs as well as establishing concurrent programming for both adults and children. The overall goal will be cost-neutrality across the board. Again, these ideas will be presented to the Board on July 10th.

This is only the beginning. There is still much work ahead, but the hard work and dedication of all the new volunteers will help bring this transition to fruition. The Special Task Force will continue to keep the community informed through these regular communications, and once again thanks all the volunteers and staff for their tireless efforts. Anyone with questions or concerns regarding the Task Force and/or the Federation's process can send an email to taskforce@jewishfedhbg.org.

JCC DAY CAMP TAKES A STAND AGAINST BULLYING

Think back to your elementary school years and ask yourself if you can recall the top three favorite memories of your childhood. They probably involved something loving and connecting. Now, do the same for the least favorite memories, and for many of us there's a painful memory of bullying that we may recall. Many of us can't remember what we had for lunch last week, but we can remember the memory of bully or teasing - and the hurt and suffering we experienced.

At JCC Day Camp, bullying is inexcusable, and we have a firm policy against all types of bullying. Our Camp philosophy is based on our mission statement which ensures that every camper has the opportunity to acquire skills and knowledge, make new friendships and retain old ones and create wonderful memories to last a lifetime. We work together as a team to ensure that campers gain self-confidence, make new friends, and go home with great memories.

Unfortunately, persons who are bullied may not have the same potential to get the most out of their camp experience. Our leadership addresses all incidents of bullying seriously and trains staff to promote communication with their staff and their campers so both staff and campers will be comfortable alerting us to any problems during their camp experience and between camp seasons. Every person has the right to expect to have the best possible experience at camp, and by working together as a team to identify and manage bullying, we can help ensure that all campers and staff have a great summer at the JCC Day Camp.

Thanks to a grant from Redwood Groups, the JCC Day Camp has initiated a new program:

Each Friday after Oneg Shabbat, we have a public event where we recognize campers who are making a difference in another camper's life. Campers are rewarded with a blue wristband that says, "I Make a Difference." It is a very powerful and meaningful way for us to express our gratitude for their contributions. We feel it is important to acknowledge people in a positive way whenever possible, and it is important for us to recognize those people who have truly helped us make a difference in someone's life.

JCC Travel Camp's Trip to Ohio

By Lily Woolf

Our trip to Ohio was awesome! The best part about it was going to Cedar Point Amusement Park. My favorite ride was the Iron Dragon. We also went to an indoor water park resort where we also slept for two nights. The third night we slept at The Camp Wise JCC. On the awesome 7 ½ hour trip, we stopped for a buffet lunch which had very good food. The first and second day, we went to a water park, and the second day we also went to Cedar Point and to a beach. The third day we went to Great Lakes Science Center, Cleveland Zoo and Swings N Things. They had go-karts, bumper boats, mini golf and an awesome arcade with a climbing corner. I can't wait for our next trip!

Green Hills July 4th Event Brings in 400 People

July 4th is often a chance for families and friends to gather together and have a picnic. It is only fitting that the JCC chose that as the day to throw a party for the community at Green Hills. The event, which brought together many friends in our extended JCC family, was sponsored by the Pitnick Family Philanthropic Fund of the Jewish Community Foundation of Central Pennsylvania and saw many new faces mix and mingle with existing members.

Andrea Weikert, Program Director, and Terri Travers, Sports Fitness and Recreation Director, worked together to organize the successful event that saw about 400 people at Green Hills. "We were so excited to be able to offer a free event to our current members who support us every day, and it was also a great way to bring in new people and expose them to our wonderful outdoor facility," Weikert stated.

All those in attendance received information on JCC membership and also found out about some of the upcoming fitness classes for the fall. Membership Director Linda Skulsky said, "This event was a great way for us to connect with community members and current members. We think that this should help us gain a few new memberships."

The day featured delicious food made by Terry Fisher, as well as open swimming, a bounce house, children's carnival games and prizes, arts and crafts, sports and more. The 2012 JCC Maccabi teens and their families were the key volunteers at this wonderful event. From helping to serve food to running the games, the teens gave back to the Harrisburg community that helps to support them.

"I have never seen the pool so crowded," commented Terri Travers, Sports and Fitness Director. "I am so fortunate to have such amazing lifeguards who made the pool function so well."

Green Hills continues to be open to its members until Labor Day weekend. The pool is open weekdays 1-7 p.m. and weekends 11 a.m. -8 p.m.

Malina Trio Offers a Wonderful Concert

By Esther Boldes

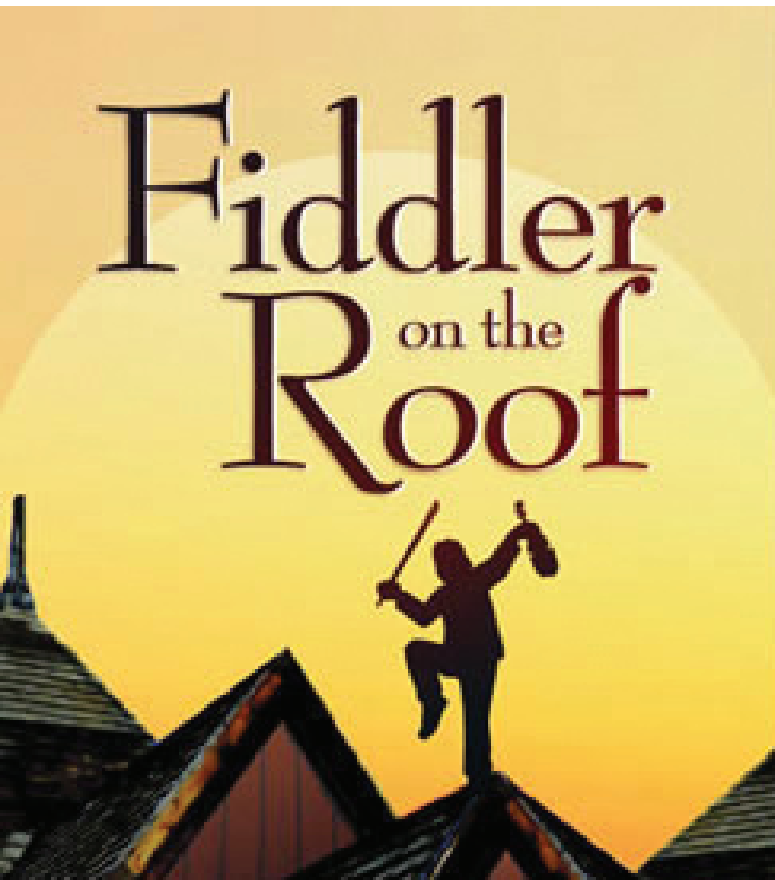

On June 19th, the JCC Senior Adult Club hosted the "Malina Trio", Maestro Stuart Malina and his two delightful children, Sara on Cello, and Zev on Piano. We had a record attendance, and everybody had a great time. As always it was a wonderful experience to see three people so dedicated and so talented at timeless, classical music. There was some Schubert, Beethoven, Chopin, and others.

Thanks go to the ever helpful Federation staff, to Norman Gras and the kitchen and to many people behind the scenes, who always give generously of their time and talent. Without their help, none of these affairs would be possible. Here are some pictures:

DUTCH APPLE IS KEEPING THE

TRADITION ALIVE WITH THE NATIONAL TOUR OF "FIDDLER ON THE ROOF"

The award-winning musical Fiddler on the Roof begins its national tour at the Dutch Apple Dinner Theatre on August 9 and runs through September 22. The cast and crew will then leave to perform the show across the United States through April 2013. Based on the stories of Sholem Aleichem, Fiddler on the Roof has captured the hearts of people all over the world with its humor, warmth and honesty.

Fiddler on the Roof is filled with a rousing, heartwarming score, including "Tradition," "Matchmaker, Matchmaker," "If I Were A Rich Man" and "Sunrise, Sunset." No other musical has so magically woven music, dance, poignancy and laughter into such an electrifying and unforgettable experience.

Time, Pixels, and Genealogy

By Jack Ogun

This is a story that fits the mold of my generation. My parents were both immigrants, married in the mid twenties and bore their first child, a son, Shlomo,(Saul) in December of 1926. Things did not turn difficult until 1930, the year I was born, when the U.S. depression hit hard. My parents struggled to make a living and, fortunately, we had enough to eat, as my father was in the fresh produce business.

Suddenly in 1934, my older brother became seriously ill with heart disease and died at the Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh. Problems were intense as we had little money, no car, and my parents could not drive. I was four and have only hazy memories and a school photo of my seven-year-old brother. Other facts were unavailable to me, a small child growing up in Irwin, Pennsylvania.

When I matured, I began wondering about my older brother and asked my parents about him. At that time, they would wave a hand and say that it was very sad, and unnecessary for me to ask. Years passed by, and my brother became a kind of mythical figure in my head. I knew so little and even my cousins didn't really remember anything of value.

Several years ago, the Carnegie Mellon University digitized a century of Jewish newspapers distributed in the Pittsburgh area. These papers usually picked up the Jewish news from surrounding communities that were of local interest. My hopes awakened! I could now check 1934-35 papers and perhaps find the obituary for my beloved brother. I searched for suburban Irwin PA news (about twenty miles from the city) and found articles about family relatives. My brother? Nothing. No obituary for a seven-year-old.

After a time, I began checking Jewish cemeteries surrounding my birth community, believing he could not be far away. After all, my parents were of limited means. Again, no results. On a hunch, I recently tried a synagogue cemetery in Greensburg, PA (10 miles east) asking about my brother. Nothing but a small, hopeful clue to new information. I was advised to try the Heinz History Project that had been recently completed of the many Pittsburgh Jewish cemeteries. I called the archivist, and within 10 seconds had the name of the funeral director, dates, and the name of the cemetery where my brother was buried. The closed book had been reopened, and I was tearfully ecstatic.

The Cneseth Israel cemetery was north of Pittsburgh and was chosen by the funeral home (still active), as the burial would be at no charge and in their children's section. I obtained more phone numbers, the 1934 funeral invoice, and directions to the cemetery from the caretaker. Suddenly, after 77 years, I was frozen in place and wiping away tears, standing before my brother's grave. Reading the inscribed stone, the lifelong myth became a heart- pounding reality. A feeling of contact and completion filled my head.

Modern computer wizards had restored a solemn connection with my brother that had escaped me for so many years. How unusual was my quest? Others will know, as they research their own memories and family genealogies.

On Sunday, June 10th a dedicated group of Keshet Israel Congregation members rolled up their sleeves and spent an afternoon volunteering for Habitat for Humanity. Though KI's group was small, they accomplished a great deal as they helped our local Habitat headquarters with some much needed maintenance of their facility, property upkeep, and re-organization of their inventory.

KI thanks Stu Brenner, Ann Rosenberg, Bertram & Rochelle Zumoff, and Rabbi Akiva Males for taking part in this hands-on Mitzvah which left everyone feeling a deep sense of satisfaction.

KI hopes to volunteer with our local Habitat for Humanity chapter again in the fall.

Keshet Israel Congregation was excited to welcome Maury Litwack of the Orthodox Union's Institute for Public Affairs to our synagogue for the Shabbos of June 16th.

Over the course of Shabbos, Maury shared a thoughtful Devar Torah, and led a well-attended presentation on the Jewish day school tuition crisis. He also spoke about the OU's efforts to help deal with this matter on the national, state, and communal levels. At Shalosh Seudos, Maury related what he has learned from working on and with Capitol Hill in Washington, DC.

KI thanks the Orthodox Union for their assistance in making this program possible. More importantly, KI thanks the OU for all of their lobbying efforts on behalf of Jewish communities across the US. We hope to continue working closely with the OU on matters that are vital to KI and the entire Harrisburg Jewish community.

KI thanks Layala Males, Julia Frankston-Morris & Shmarya Gasner, and Joel & Debbie Hervitz for hosting Maury, Elinor, and their wonderful family over the course of Shabbos.
