

“Articulate and wise, Klau inspires because he provides both a sober analysis of the complexity of race relations, and provides a practical way forward.”

—Ronald Heifetz, Co-founder,
Center for Public Leadership, Harvard Kennedy School

RACE & SOCIAL CHANGE

AN MLK DAY EVENT

Monday, January 15, 2018
7 pm | Mandell JCC

In recent months, we’ve seen open displays of white supremacy in Charlottesville, NFL players taking a knee during the national anthem, and ongoing debates about Black Lives Matter. Clearly, matters of race and social change remain alive, divisive, and critical in American civic life. How should we understand all that we see going on? And what can we do about it?

Dr. Max Klau is the Chief Program Officer at the New Politics Leadership Academy. Before stepping into this role, he was the Vice President of Leadership Development at City Year, Inc., the national service program headquartered in Boston. Max received his doctorate of education (Ed.D.) from Harvard University in 2005. His writing about leadership has appeared in Fast Company, the Huffington Post, the Washington Post, and the Harvard Business Review.

Max lives in Boston with his wife and two kids, grew up in Simsbury, CT, and spent much of his youth performing in teen shows at the Mandell JCC along with his far more talented twin brother, Nathan. His parents, David and Barbara, and siblings (Daniel, Deborah, Michal, and Nathan) have all been deeply involved with the JCC in many capacities over the years. Race and Social Change: A Quest, A Study, A Call to Action is his first book.

To reserve your free ticket call the box office at 860-231-6316 or tickets@mandelljcc.org

For more information, contact Elana MacGilpin, 860-231-6366, emacgilpin@mandelljcc.org

