

Jewish Journal Policy: No Opinion Pieces

Introduction: The Jewish Journal of San Antonio is dedicated to providing its readers with factual, unbiased, and informative news coverage. In line with this commitment to responsible journalism, we have decided not to publish opinion pieces in our online newspaper.

Rationale:

1. Objective Reporting: Our primary mission is to deliver objective news reporting that is free from bias or personal opinion. By excluding opinion pieces, we ensure that our readers receive accurate and unbiased information.
2. Focus on News: We believe that our readers turn to the Jewish Journal for reliable news about current events in the community and we want to maintain a clear focus on providing them with factual, timely, and relevant stories.
3. Avoiding Controversy: Opinion pieces can be polarizing and controversial. By abstaining from publishing them, we aim to foster a space for civil discourse and respectful dialogue within our community.

Types of Content We Publish:

- News articles
- Features
- In-depth analyses
- Upcoming Events / Post Event Recaps
- Interviews

Submission Policy: While we do not accept opinion pieces for publication, we encourage individuals representing Jewish organizations and synagogues in our community and around the world to submit articles and stories relevant to the community. We are always open to working with contributors who can provide well-researched and fact-based content that aligns with our mission.

We appreciate the support of our readers and contributors in helping us maintain the highest standards of journalism at the Jewish Journal of San Antonio

Contact Information: For inquiries or further information regarding this policy, please contact Pamela Partridge at partridgep@jfsatx.org