Investment Review – Concerns about global growth and the timing of future additional rate increases by the Federal Reserve led to modest returns in large cap domestic stocks and negative returns in all other equity sectors. The hardest hit sector was emerging market equities with capital flight in the first six months of the fiscal year despite some recovery in the second half. Concerns about Chinese growth and the perilous state of the Brazilian economy compounded worries. Both Japan and Europe engaged in further monetary stimulus with little effect. The surprising vote of the United Kingdom to leave the European Union adds uncertainty for Europe that will have impact on trade and currencies and increases volatility in global equity markets.

Relatively, stability and modest growth in the United States looks firmly entrenched. Unemployment has reached levels close to what is considered full employment and we seem to be on the cusp of wage gains. However, productivity gains in the US have been declining for a number of years. That combined with a lower birth rate in the US could lead to a permanent, lower level of growth.

Developed markets worldwide kept downward pressure on US rates during the year. The yield of the benchmark ten year treasury declined approximately 0.90% for the year.

The Tidewater Jewish Foundation's (TJF) diversified main investment pool declined 1.3% for the fiscal year, leading its index target of -2.4% and outperforming 58% of the 782 endowments and foundations tracked by InvestorForce*. TJF benefits from its partnership in the Jewish Community Endowment Pool, LLP (JCEP), managed by the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston. JCEP strives for stability over long-term horizons and structures its portfolio with a focus on capital preservation, minimizing declines during weak equity markets while capturing a significant percentage of the positive returns during strong equity markets. This was clear over the last five years where JCEP captured over 101% of returns relative to its index target when its index target was positive, but only captured 75% when the index target declined. During the financial crisis of 2008-09, JCEP outperformed 91% of the 264 foundations and endowments tracked by InvestorForce* during the worst period of the crash.

Economic and Market Outlook – BCA, our economic and market consultant, believes there is little indication of a recession, but growth will likely continue to be modest. Valuations in the equity markets are historically high, but they expect positive returns in the equity markets to continue, supported by extremely low interest rates.
