

Question #1: We Watched

When their rights were taken away,

We watched.

When they started disappearing,

One by one,

We watched.

When they were packed into cattle cars as if they were simply cargo,

We watched.

When they were stripped of their identities

And given numbers instead of names,

We watched.

When they endured back breaking labor,

We watched.

When their screams filled the silent night,

We watched, heartbroken and knowing not what to do.

As they lined up,

Their faces grey with despair,

We watched, crying on the inside.

And then they were gone,

And all we did was watch.