

Dear Students & Families,

We hope you are all doing very well in your life pursuits and managing in good health during this unprecedented time. In maintaining our commitment to our community, My College Resource (MCR) will continue to serve as the premier information source for all college-related topics. Throughout April, MCR will discuss the changing landscape of college admissions due to the COVID-19 crisis. As such, we are excited to share our plans to distribute information on key topics that may affect each aspiring college applicant.

The presenter for these webinars is Debra Landesberg, M.S., Educational Consultant. She has spent the past weeks reading, listening and consulting with colleagues in all areas of higher education to learn about changes due to coronavirus. Considered to be a preeminent national resource on college admissions, Debra is honored to share the most up-to-date information of this changing landscape. The APRIL WEBINAR SERIES is no charge, free to all interested in attending college.
