

Marcy Eisenberg

*F*or many years I have been refining the direction of my lifetime philanthropy and my continuing legacy. An imperative that defines this is the certainty that whatever I may leave in this world goes on to do good. I wish to be remembered as I recall my parents - with simple yet strong Jewish values; caring and generous during their lifetimes without hesitation. Their deeds inspire me on a daily basis. My gift is going to Federation because I value the opportunity to benefit many agencies. Because the needs of the Jewish Community are ever-changing, my bequest is unrestricted as I have tremendous confidence in the lay leadership and staff to distribute the funds as priorities dictate. I have enduring gratitude for the breadth and depth of the Western Mass Jewish community that has been so welcoming to me. Not only has it provided an outlet for volunteer and philanthropic opportunities, but most importantly, a life populated by remarkable relationships.

