

Memorable/lasting	Connections & relationships with others	Self-identity development & personal growth	Mishlachta exposure to Jewish community	Challenging
An experience I will never forget.	I made personal connections with many people in the community and I feel a stronger connection to the world Jewish Community.	The Shlichut helped a lot in shaping my personality and identity.	The Shlichut exposed provided me a huge exposure to the Diaspora Jewish efforts and structure and to an entire complicated world of values.	The most enriching, teaching and challenging experience.
The most exciting, unique and special experience I ever had. It goes everywhere with me. And I would like to get involved again with GMW community or with Jewish and Israeli activities in the Diaspora.	Creating connections and relationships and affecting people.	The Shlichut Experience was very meaningful in developing my personality, values and skills.	The experience matured me, it widened my perspective on the Jewish world, the Israeli world and my place as part of the Jewish community.	The year of service was a challenging and learning experience for me.
It was an unforgettable experience that was such a great thing. I studied a lot and met lots of amazing people. Now after a year, I can truly say that being a Rishon changed me in so many ways and thought me a lot. I just hope that I left the same influence on the people I met in schools and in general.	There is no way to explain how empowering and teaching this experience was for me. The main thing is the connection created with people who will always stay part of my life.	Most meaningful experience, full of exciting, teaching, difficult and amazing moments at the same time. No doubt this year gave me so much for the rest of my life, it provided me a deeper understanding of a different Judaism and strengthen my love for my country. I learned a lot about myself and gained unbelievable experiences.	I learned so much about the Jewish people all around the world and about the connection to Israel by meeting all the amazing kids around the community and the amazing families and leaders!	In addition, it was a personal and professional challenge that developed me and my peers in so many ways.
An empowering experience. I arrived in GMW a completely different person from who I am today, after my year of Shlichut in GMW. The most meaningful experience of my life.	The community warmth and endless caring towards the Rishonim are an integral and meaningful part of the program's success, and personally were part of the amazing experience I had as a Rishona.	The Shlichut program has a big impact on my life: shaped my identity in so many ways and gave skills for life. Thank you MetroWest.	Thanks to the Year of Service, I feel a window to an entire world of diverse and rich Judaism has opened for me. I met a great love of Israel, a sense a community, Jewish Peoplehood, giving and incredible actions.	I had the greatest most fulfilling and challenging year.
It was life changing experience!...Even now , almost a year later, I still talk about the GMW Jewish community and I the amazing things they do for Israel , The Jewish community , and other people all over the world - I loved being part of all this amazing work and spreading it to others.	The fact that Rishonim program in GMW has become so appreciated by the community and families, allowed us, the Shinshinim to bloom there and be welcomed at our working places, with the host families and even in the office. That is not the situation with other communities that have Shinshinim. also- I would like to emphasize that Moshe did his work in the best way possible, not just as a Shaliach, but also as an educator, professional supervisor with high demands and a caring Aba.	The Shlichut experience built and leverage my Hadracha, public speaking skills to higher level.	It was literally the best year of my life and completely changed the way how I see Israel and The Jewish people.
The Year of Service in GMW has become inseparable part of my life. The values I got, the people I met, the skills I learnt and the experiences I gained, shaped me as a human being and effect my life tremendously.	I cannot wait to go back and visit the community especially my host families.	The Shlichut teaches a lot about yourself, you should not be ashamed to learn.
Once a Rishon, always a Rishon.
I want to come back!!!
I am considering coming back for a second shlichut.

Shaping Mislachat world view	Opportunity	Exposure of GMW to Israel	General advice
I learned about the Jewish community in NJ, US and other parts of the world.	An amazing opportunity to join a wonderful community and give them an opportunity to learn Israel through my personal experience and views.	The Shlichut meant to be there for campers/student who wanted to be active about Israel and don't know how, or know nothing about Israel. An opportunity to expose kids, teens and adults to Israel in aspects that were new to them.	I think that it's important to keep the "bridge" between the Rishonim and GMW even after the year has gone. It's important for the process, the people we met, the kids in schools and helps the "bridge" between the community and Israel keeping grow.
I feel that I have a wider and more diverse perspective of the world now.	A big opportunity to bring my Israel to the community and learn a lot about the Jewish community and about myself.	I also loved bringing my Israel the way I see it and to see the Impact it has on other people.	Not recommended to everyone, so I wouldn't promote it all over the place.
One of the experiences that shaped my view of the world. For life.	I appreciate the rare opportunity to influence others and be influenced myself
