

Like their camel relatives, these animals might spit when they get upset. They were once “extinct” in every country except for Peru. Now there are more than 75,000 of them in the U.S. alone, and they live in Israel, too!

Can you guess what animal this is?
Meet one at Celebrate Israel: Boston!
celebrateisraelboston.com

