Fat Torah

- Fat Torah Website
- Fat Torah Goals: 1. Ending weight stigma in Jewish communal life and training Jewish professionals, lay leaders, and community members to confront fatphobia wherever they encounter it (including in themselves). 2. Equipping people who already work in fat activism, Health at Every Size, ED recovery, and related weight neutral and body positive fields to recognize and attend to spiritual and religious needs in themselves and those they serve. 3. Propagating a methodology of connecting with sacred text, tradition, and spirituality that fosters body liberation for people of all sizes.
Get in touch: Rabbi Minna Bromberg, PhD, Founder and President of Fat Torah
mbromberg@fattorah.org

- Rabbi Dr. Minna Bromberg is passionate about bringing her three decades of experience in fat activism to writing and teaching and change-making at the nexus of Judaism and body liberation. Fat Torah seeks to end weight stigma in Jewish communal life, trains Jewish professionals to confront fatphobia, and propagates a methodology of connecting with sacred text, tradition, and spirituality that fosters body liberation for people of all sizes. Rabbi Bromberg received her doctorate in sociology from Northwestern University in 2005, with a dissertation on identity formation in interfaith couples, and was ordained at Hebrew College in 2010. She lives in Jerusalem with her husband, Rabbi Alan Abrams, and their two children. Her forthcoming book is Every Body Beloved: a call for fat liberation in Jewish life.
- Get involved: Follow Fat Torah on social media, join their email list, or bring a workshop to your community.

ONLINE SUPPORT RESOURCES

- The National Eating Disorder Association: The National Eating Disorders Association (NEDA) is the largest nonprofit organization dedicated to supporting individuals and families affected by eating disorders. NEDA supports individuals and families affected by eating disorders, and serves as a catalyst for prevention, cures and access to quality care.
- National Alliance for Eating Disorders: The leading national organization providing eating disorder help, support, and education.
- A Mitzvah to Eat: A Mitzvah to Eat supports Jews who have a vast range of physical and mental health conditions, disabilities, life circumstances, trauma and more who need to eat on Yom Kippur, use a device on Shabbat, or relate differently to other mitzvot.
- Project Heal: Project HEAL’s vision is to create a world where everyone with an eating disorder has the opportunities & resources they need to heal. Our programs break down systemic, healthcare, and financial barriers that millions of people in the U.S. face when trying to heal from their eating disorder.
- The Full Bloom Project: The Full Bloom Project is a research-informed resource designed for anyone who wants to nurture a truly body-positive next generation. By connecting the dots between research and activism in the fields of child and adolescent development, mental and physical health, nutrition, social justice, intersectionality, and eating disorder prevention we can strive in community to make these learnings accessible and digestible to body-positive nurturers everywhere.
- Mindful Eating Project: A division of The SAFE Foundation that is dedicated to helping individuals improve their relationship with food, weight, exercise, and body image. We offer a confidential hotline open to anyone struggling with eating disorders, body image or bad relationship with food and refer people to psychotherapists who have decades of expertise in treating eating disorders.

• Fat Women of Color: Sisterhood, support & sanctuary for black and brown women of size. Black and Brown women of size, we create online and offline experiences that center YOU in our safe and affirming spaces. We know that society uses systemic oppression in an attempt to marginalize you. That is why we are committed to focusing on your power, your magic, and your needs.

• Association for Size Diversity and Health: As a non-profit organization with an international membership committed to the practice of the Health At Every Size® (HAES®) Principles, ASDAH envisions a world that celebrates bodies of all shapes and sizes, in which body weight is no longer a source of discrimination and where oppressed communities have equal access to the resources and practices that support health and wellbeing.

• HAES Health Sheets: These sheets were created as a way to give weight-neutral, evidence-based care options for common health conditions. They are meant to be used by you, the patient, as reference materials to gain knowledge and advocate for yourself and others; and as resources for healthcare practitioners who are interested in creating more inclusive practices by gaining a better understanding of weight-neutral care options.

• International Association of Eating Disorders Professionals: Established in 1985, the International Association of Eating Disorders Professionals (iaedp) is today well recognized for its excellence in providing first-quality education and high-level training standards to an international multidisciplinary group of various healthcare treatment providers and helping professions, who treat the full spectrum of eating disorder problems.
