

Holocaust survivor with her new dentures and student doctor

They made a miracle for me. I have the best doctors in the world. All the doctors are so polite, so human, so nice to me...everybody pays attention to me and I even feel at ease.

Yelena Olshansky, a 94-year-old survivor

We immediately built a rapport and trust with her and she felt like she was in the right place and being treated by the right people.

Peter L. DeSciscio, Professor of Restorative Dentistry

She lives by herself. She doesn't have any family here. When she comes here, she looks at me like she's looking at one of her sons.

Ivan Alkhekhi, student doctor

We focus on the PCTI care principles. We provide a safe environment and make them feel comfortable; we explain all the procedures to get their consent before performing anything inside their mouth, and that makes them feel empowered about their treatments.

Carmen Ramirez Sosa, prosthodontics resident

They are not only nice but I feel they are competent, too. I can't thank them enough. They are wonderful.

Helen Bright, an 85-year-old survivor
