

Evelyn Rubenstein JCC Houston

The Hurricane Harvey forecast for the Houston area is concerning. With the history of flooding in our community over the past few years, we're particularly concerned with the impact on our neighbors. We will continue to monitor the weather and its impact on our neighborhood and we will respond, along with other Jewish and community agencies, to any community needs we see arise.

Community Assistance

I know that you join me as part of a larger community to lend a helping hand and offer whatever assistance you can to families, friends and neighbors should the need arise.

The J will again serve as a drop-off and distribution site for the following items:

- bottled water
- work gloves
- packing supplies
- plastic storage bins
- heavy trash bags
- heavy duty razor blades to rip out carpet
- cleaning supplies, including old towels
- gift cards from home repair stores and grocery stores

We will begin accepting supply donations immediately, with the expectation that there will be some level of flooding in our community. You can drop off supplies in the lobby of the JCC, and we will continue to accept donations and provide supplies to those in need as long as we are able to remain operational.
