LETTY COTTIN POGREBIN is an author, activist, and national lecturer. A founding editor and writer for Ms. magazine, Pogrebin is also the author of eleven books, including her latest novel, Single Jewish Male Seeking Soul Mate, and the acclaimed guidebook, How to Be a Friend to a Friend Who's Sick. Among her other publications are two memoirs – Getting Over Getting Older and Deborah, Golda, and Me: Being Female and Jewish in America – her first novel, Three Daughters, and the pre-feminist classic, How to Make it in a Man's World. Besides her nearly 20-year affiliation with Ms. magazine, Pogrebin has published articles and op-eds in The New York Times, Washington Post, TIME, Huffington Post, Boston Globe, Philadelphia Inquirer, L.A. Times, The Nation, Travel & Leisure and Good Housekeeping, among other publications. She is a regular columnist for Moment magazine, and for ten years, wrote "The Working Woman" column in Ladies' Home Journal.

ABIGAIL POGREBIN is the author of the My Jewish Year: 18 Holidays; One Wondering Jew – a much-expanded chronicle of her popular column for the Forward, for which she spent 12 months researching and observing every holiday in the Jewish calendar. Pogrebin is also the author of Stars of David: Prominent Jews Talk about Being Jewish, which went into eight hardcover printings and was later adapted for the Off-Broadway stage. Her bestselling Amazon Kindle Single, Showstopper, recounts her teenage adventure in the original Broadway cast of Stephen Sondheim's flop, Merrily We Roll Along. Abigail was formerly a broadcast producer for Fred Friendly, Charlie Rose and Bill Moyers at PBS, then for Ed Bradley and Mike Wallace at 60 Minutes. She has been published in many magazines and newspapers including Newsweek, New York magazine, the Forward, Tablet and The Daily Beast. She has moderated conversations at The JCC in Manhattan, 92Y and The Skirball Center. Pogrebin is past-president of Central Synagogue in Manhattan.
