

CFUC Guiding Principles:

Transparent and Consultative Process

We are committed to an open and transparent consultative engagement of the Edmonton Jewish Community. This includes its organizations, their members, and Jews in Edmonton who may be unaffiliated with any Jewish organization.

The consultative process will assist the Committee in assessing the needs and wants of the Community and to be accountable to the Community.

Forward Looking and Inclusive

We are committed to enabling the Jewish Federation of Edmonton to create a long-term solution which will best serve the Community. The solution should be as inclusive as possible, respectful of differences, and primarily embrace the principle that we are all on the same team.

Financially Responsible

We are committed to a solution which is financially responsible. We recognize that any solution must consider long-term value creation, and must be achievable, viable and sustainable, taking into consideration the current size and projected growth of the Community and its resources and assets.
